

OF IMPLIES

ABSTRACT

Implies needs less or no clarification at all if the logic is sufficient and satisfactory as well. It holds the precise matter. Matter may be precise. But ambiguity renders it debatable. So ambiguity is the enemy of implies.

Keywords: Implies, Argument, Integrate, Logic, Brevity, Conclusion.

INTRODUCTION

Creative writing is based more on manifestation rather than on expression. It does not inform rather reveals, so it bears no reference. The best creative writing is critical, and the best critical writing is creative. The present article is the outcome of creative writing meant for lay readers. As such free style is the methodology adopted so that pleasure of reading can be enjoyed by the common mass. As you know well that Francis Bacon (1561-1626), the immortal essayist, wrote many essays and notably, "Of Love", "Of Friendship", "Of Ambition", "Of Studies", etc. The myriad-minded genius rightly pointed out that all the words of the dictionary can be the themes of essays one can write. But little has been done, in this regard since his death, in order to finish his unfinished monumental works. In fact Bacon's way of presentation i.e., his unique style kindled the imagination already in me and encouraged me as well to write essays, in the light of creative writing, thus to get relief through Catharsis.

ARTICLE

Implies is a weapon of argument. It integrates instead of differentiating. Brevity is its beauty. It is the logical output of any statement, discussion, whisper, campaigning, debate, quarrel, etc. It pleads for or points out conclusion. It is an asset of all branches, especially of science, for obtaining desired inference.

If a man is dead it implies that he does not tell a tale. Because, a dead man does not tell a tale. But implies may not always be correct. It suffers from ambiguity or vagueness. For example, a sleeping man does not tell a tale. For that it does not imply that the sleeping man is dead. Thus all dead man remains lying, but all lying man is not dead. Because a man may die in sitting condition. A man may hang to welcome death.

Also a man may be hanged by judiciary system or by enemies. So death does not follow a single track.

But correct argument does not need any clarification. A man died. It implies that he was born once. There is no ambiguity. This will be considered unanimously. It needs no clarification. Here, implies conquers perfect clarification.

Implies bases on logic but not magic. It stands on solid ground. So it should not be used casually. A casual talker is hated by all and becomes a laughing stock. It is unethical to blame a person without any valid reason. Also it is a risky affair to defame one. Because the opponent may drag the initiator to the court for trial. A person should take a serious decision after considering all parameters. It is obviously very difficult job to take a judicious decision. But it is not impossible. However, implies is a very difficult procedure, since it suggests something indirectly rather than stating it directly.

Implies needs less or no clarification at all if the logic is sufficient and satisfactory as well. It holds the precise matter. Matter may be precise. But ambiguity renders it debatable. So ambiguity is the enemy of implies.

A fool may argue on any matter which is not implied. Similarly, a mighty man may forcefully do any wrong in the name of implies. As such a logical man should avoid the illogical persons i.e., muscle man or a fool. In fact it is enjoyable even the enemy argues logically but it bores when a friend argues basing a baseless fallacy.

A married woman has children. But it does not imply that all women having children are married. Because, a virgin mother is not married but have children like a married woman.

Again, if a woman be raped she may give birth to a baby. Birth of a man is the union of a sperm with an ovum. When a sperm unites with an ovum to form a zygote they don't bother to verify whether the man and woman are married or not. They simply be united.

But this union is legal in case of married couple and illegal in the eye of law in case of rape and it is immoral in case of live together.

Live together is the contribution of leading fast life. In fast life everything is fast due to absence of any bondage between partners. Fast life always dreams for jet age. Jet age knows not to stop since it has no base and brake at all causing ultimate and untimely breakage of relation. They say live together is not illegal if two adults be partner. But it is harmful to society and its culture. Because deserted children, the product of live together, be victimized causing social problem. Thus, live together is not illegal but it is immoral.

To save the children and women and thereby the society at large the concept of marriage has been introduced. Society binds man and woman for peace and social security. But so-called liberty disobeys that bindings and the couple be prodigal.

Implies is the decision having 100% free from ambiguity. It must be transparent. It must not suffer from any doubt. Nobody can raise any question. It must be free from all encumbrances. But 100% proof case is very rare. So implies is a difficult job. Because every decision suffers from ambiguity or various possibilities. Before taking any decision regarding any allegation, the alleged person should get opportunity of being heard for the sake of justice. Here implies should be utilized with utmost care, since truth is one but lie is many. As such crime should be proved before punishment.

CONCLUSIONS

Two employees attended the office. One of them came by bus. For that it does not imply that the other employee also came by bus. He may avail the train or higher a cab. Two persons took the lunch. One took loaf. It does not imply that the other man also ate loaf, he may take rice. However, implies should not always be used. It should be used in proper place in proper time with utmost proper care.
