INTRODUCTION

Creative writing is based more on manifestation rather than on expression. It does not inform rather reveals, so it bears no reference. The best creative writing is critical, and the best critical writing is creative. The present article is the outcome of creative writing meant for lay readers. As such free style is the methodology adopted so that the pleasure of reading can be enjoyed by the common mass. As you know well that, Francis Bacon (1561-1626), the immortal writer, wrote many essays, and notably "Of Love", "Of Friendship", "Of Ambition", "Of Studies", etc. The myriad-minded genius rightly pointed out that all the words of the dictionary can be the themes of essays one can write. But little has been done, in this regard since his death, in order to finish his unfinished monumental works. In fact Bacon's way of presentation and his unique style kindled imagination and inspired me to write essays, in the light of creative writing, thus to get relief through Catharsis.

ARTICLE

Lacuna is an empty space where something is missing. It is a blank. It is hollow. It is an empty part. It implies full of holes. It is a gap. Thus it means a missing part. Administrative lacuna invites various mishaps coupled with law and order problem.

Lacuna is a space where something has been omitted or has come out. It is called hiatus i.e., a short pause in which nothing happens or is said, or a space where something is missing. It is a missing portion or empty page, especially in an ancient manuscript, text, etc. A lacuna in the manuscript encourages the critics to speculate various interpretations as per their sweet will. Their assumptions coupled with imagination give birth to new doctrines which the author did not mean or even gave any hint at all. There is none to argue against the new unheard theories of the critics. Since

Common men has lacuna in knowledge, the critics enjoy advantageous position everywhere in every ages.

Further lacuna means intercellular space. It is a cavity. It is a depression in a pitted surface. It is a fretted ceiling. It is a space where something has been omitted or has come out. Anatomically it is one of the numerous minute cavities or depressions especially in the substance of bone that are filled with bone cells. As per botany it is an air space in the cellular tissue of plants.

Absent mind or callousness or ignorance or negligence or idleness or all together give birth to lacuna. Man faces lacuna. Man has to face lacuna. Man is bound to face lacuna. Thus man willy-nilly experiences the mishaps caused by lacuna infinite times from cradle to grave. He may singularly be liable for this punishment or due to third party's activities. He who can fill up the gap can go ahead. He who cannot and does not fill up the gap in time experiences downfall. This capacity of filling up of the gaps, as are faced with, varies from man to man. And this variation gives birth to different gradations of human being in the society.

All tries. Few succeed. The successful persons do not waste time. They know time and tide wait for none. As such they judiciously invest time. Very few people possess this time consciousness. This alertness paves the way for bright future. Thus sincerity determines human success. This answers why we see few successful persons around us.

Lacuna in childhood punishes man permanently. He has to pay severely for his negligence. Childhood is the crucial time to build up the career. Any gap in that grown up period of life can never be make up. In fact any lacuna in that tender age can hardly be compensated even after taking much care in future. A grown up man has nothing except mourning at that autumn of life. Misfortune dogs such a cursed victim till death. Some people can bear it.

Some people become mad. Those who cannot bear at all the bitter biting of failure commit suicide. Those who commit suicide do not know that life has its sweet side too.

CONCLUSION

To enjoy sweet side of life one should not indulge any kind of lacunae at any stage of life. A wise knows it. A fool does not know it since it has lacuna in its knowledge. Bad environment nurtures lacuna and good environment perishes lacuna.
