

OF PERFECT

DIBAKAR PAL <sup>1</sup>*<sup>1</sup> RETIRED EXECUTIVE MAGISTRATE (CIVIL SERVANT) & PHD STUDENT, DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS MANAGEMENT, UNIVERSITY OF CALCUTTA, INDIA.*ABSTRACT:

Wife wants perfect husband. Husband wants perfect wife. They say husband may get perfect wife. But wife seldom gets perfect husband. Thus all wives are perfect but all husbands may not be perfect. In other words, all perfect husbands are happy but all perfect wives may not be happy.

KEYWORDS:

PERFECT, CORRECT, SOUND, FLAWLESS, EXCELLENT, FAULTLESS, ACCURATE, PURE, ABSOLUTE.

INTRODUCTION

Creative writing is based more on manifestation rather than on expression. It does not inform rather reveals, so this style of writing bears no reference. The best creative writing is critical, and the best critical writing is creative. The present article is an outcome of creative writing meant for lay readers. As such free style is the methodology adopted so that the pleasure of reading can be enjoyed by the readers in general. As you know well that, Francis Bacon (1561-1626), the immortal writer, wrote many essays, and notably "Of Love", "Of Friendship", "Of Ambition", "Of Studies", etc. The myriad-minded genius rightly pointed out that all the words of the dictionary can be the themes of essays one can write. But little has been done, in this regard since his death, in order to finish his unfinished monumental works. In fact Bacon's way of presentation and his unique style kindled imagination and inspired me to write essays, in the light of creative writing, thus to get relief through Catharsis.

ARTICLE

Perfect is complete in all respects. It is without defect or omission. It is not deficient. It is sound. It is flawless. It is in a condition of complete excellence, as in skill or quantity. It is faultless. It is sometimes used comparatively e.g. to create a more perfect union. It is completely correct or accurate. It is without reserve or qualification. It is pure. It is utter. It is sheer. It is absolute e.g. a perfect fool; perfect stranger.

Perfect means having everything that is necessary. It implies complete and not damaged e.g. in perfect condition; an absolute perfect set of teeth.

Perfect is exact. It is precise e.g. a perfect copy/match/fit; perfect accuracy/timing.

Perfect is the best of its kind. It is ideal e.g. a perfect score i.e. one in which no marks or points have been lost; a perfect example of Picasso's early style; the perfect crime i.e. one in which the criminal is never discovered (ironic). The weather was less than perfect i.e. not very good at all.

Perfect is most excellent. It is very good. For example: She spoke perfect English. That was a perfect evening.

Perfect for somebody/something is highly suitable for somebody/something. It is exactly right e.g. it was a perfect day for a picnic. She is the perfect choice for the job. 'Will 2 o'clock be OK for you? Perfect, thanks.'

In botany, it is having all parts or members present. It is monoclinal.

In grammar, it is expressing or showing a state or action completed at the time of speaking or at the time indicated e.g. verbs have three perfect tenses viz., simple or present perfect (e.g. I have said), past perfect or pluperfect (e.g. I had said), and future perfect (e.g. I shall have said by then).

In music, it is designating an interval of unison, fourth, fifth, or octave.

Perfect is to bring to completion. It is to make perfect or more nearly perfect according to a given standard, as by training.

Perfect is the perfect tense. It is a verb form in this tense.

Perfect is to make perfect. It is to finish. It is to teach fully, to make fully skilled in anything. It is to print the second side of.

Perfecti is a body of Catharsis in the 12th and 13th centuries, of very strict lives.

Perfectibilian is a believer in the perfectibility of mankind.

Perfectibilism is the belief that man is capable of becoming perfect or of progressing indefinitely towards perfection.

Perfectness is the state or quality of being perfect. It implies completeness.

Perfection is one who perfects. It is a machine for printing both sides at once.

Perfect binding is an unsewn bookbinding in which the backs of the gathered sections are sheared off and the leaves held in place by glue.

Perfect competition, in economics, is free competition for the sale of a commodity.

Perfect fourth is the interval between sounds whose vibration frequencies are as 3 to 4.

Perfect fifth is the interval between two sounds whose vibration frequencies are as 2 to 3.

Perfect fluid is an ideal fluid, incompressible, of uniform density, offering no resistance to distorting forces.

Perfect gas is ideal gas.

Perfect insect is the imago or completely developed form of an insect.

Perfect interval is the fourth, fifth, or octave.

Perfect metals are noble metals.

Perfect number is a positive integer which is equal to the sum of all its factors, excluding itself e.g.  $6=1+2+3$ ;  $28=1+2+4+7+14$ . The first four perfect numbers are 6, 28, 496, and 8,128.

Perfect pitch, in music, is a term often used for absolute pitch. Thus, it is nontechnical term.

Perfecta is a bet or betting procedure in which one wins if one correctly picks the first and second place finishers in a race.

Perfect cadence is one passing from the chord of the dominant to that of the tonic. It, in music, is a cadence, immediately preceded by some form of dominant harmony, and consisting of the tonic triad of the key of the particular section or of the composition in its beginning, with the keynote appearing in both the highest and lowest voice.

Perfect game in baseball is a no-hitter in which no batter on the opposing team reaches base.

Bowling is a game in which a bowler scores twelve successive strikes.

Perfectibility is capability of becoming perfect.

Perfectible is capable of becoming perfect. It is that can become, or be made, perfect or more nearly perfect.

Perfection is the act or process of perfecting. It is the quality or condition of being perfect. It is extreme degree of excellence according to a given standard. It is a person or thing that is the perfect embodiment of some quality.

Perfectionate is to bring to perfection.

Perfectionist is one who claims to be perfect. It is one who aims at or calls for nothing short of perfection. It is one who holds some doctrine concerning perfection. It is one who thinks that moral perfection can be attained in this life. It is one of the Bible Communist or Free-lovers, a small American sect founded by J.H.Noyes (1811-86), which settled at Oneida in 1848, holding that the gospel if accepted secures freedom from sin.

Perfectionism is any doctrine that holds that moral, religious, or social perfection can and should be attained in this life. It is extreme or obsessive striving for perfection, as in one's work.

Perfective, now rare, is tending to bring to or achieve perfection. In grammar, it is designating an aspect of verbs, as in Russian, expressing completion of the action or indicating an action that is not repeated. It is the perfective aspect. It is a verb in this aspect.

Perfectly is so to be perfect. It is to a perfect degree. It is completely. It is fully.

Perfecto is a cigar of a standard shape, thick in the center and tapered at each end.

Perfect participle is past participle.

Perfect rhyme is rhyme in which the stressed vowels and following consonants of the rhyming words correspond, but preceding consonants do not e.g. make, take. Perfect rhyme is rime riche.

Perfect square is a quantity which is the exact square of another quantity e.g. 16 is a perfect square of 4.

To perfection is completely. It means perfectly.

Perfection, though difficult to attain, is omnipresent. Man, from cradle to grave, faces it in its various forms and features having different degrees and dimensions as well.

It is in a perfect way. Arrangements were perfect. She spoke perfect English. The meadow is just like a perfect circle. A perfect lie is very difficult to suspect. A perfect replica often exploits the tender soul.

He perfected his technique through relentless practice. The way he has perfected the job, there is very little for me to do.

You know perfectly well. I understand you perfectly. The trousers fit perfectly. I am perfectly all right. 'What do you mean?' 'You know perfectly well what I mean'. What perfectly awful weather! You know perfectly well that she will never return.

His performance was little short of perfection. Her singing was perfection itself. They are working on the perfection of their new paint formula. He timed his run to perfection.

Keats attained perfection/produced works of perfection at an early age. Your graceful presence has lent our assembly perfection. She was busy with the perfection of her voice. The very perfection of nobleness is an important ingredient of a successful gentleman. A man of many perfections is honoured everywhere in every age.

As a cook she is such a perfectionist that she insists on using only the finest ingredients.

Perfect is like a mirage. It beckons. But it cannot be reached. Yet a perfectionist runs after it. It is his honest effort. As such he tries to attain it sincerely. Everybody respects him for his noble vision.

Practice makes one perfect. A doctor practices. A lawyer practices. Both are imperfect. Due to imperfect knowledge patient dies and client loses the suit.

A perfect person is respected by all, everywhere in every age. Perfection is such a thing everyone tries to attain it. All tries. Few succeed. It depends more on luck.

All cannot be perfect. All does not attain perfection. It depends on endeavor. It depends on thinking. Thinking is akin to physical pain. Very few people can bear it. This answers why we see few perfectionists around us.

Ideal/perfection is always unattainable due to many factors either mundane or divine or both simultaneously. The influence depends on the nature of activity or involvement. Man can overcome mundane factors thereby realize mundane gain. Dynamicity helps to attain it.

Divine factors are very difficult to overcome. It needs maturity. It demands devotion. Difficulties are due to their tenderness. Most of the people lose their tenderness facing hard reality. A hardened soul cannot realize divine matter thereby cannot attain divinity. Only a devotee can see that immortal light that paves the way to welcome salvation.

CONCLUSION

Wife wants perfect husband. Husband wants perfect wife. They say husband may get perfect wife. But wife seldom gets perfect husband. Thus all wives are perfect but all husbands may not be perfect. In other words, all perfect husbands are happy but all perfect wives may not be happy.

REFERENCES

No reference, since the present article is an outcome of Creative Writing